Intelligent Disobedience – The Difference Between Good and GREAT Leaders

Intelligent Disobedience is the ability to successfully counter the directions of management. To challenge, pushback and make suggestions to management that defend the integrity of your projects against the expectations of your stakeholder. Pivotal actions for true success as a project manager. Like the seeing-eye dog training environment that embraces “Intelligent disobedience” to train their dogs to “protect and ensure the safety of their masters, project managers need to know how to “disobey their masters” as a means of “saving the business”. Intelligent disobedience requires courage, solid presentation skills, political awareness in addition to insight on the projects they manage. It also requires a sense of balance brought forth with a sense of humor – after all you are comparing yourself to a dog as a means to be successful! This workshop is fun, informative and will provide you with an alternative way of looking at the challenges you face as a project manager.
